CRAWFORD TAYLOR,
10-29-11-12 Seavey Co., snowball, Ark.

Beaver now sports three automobiles and the fourth one, which Dr. Munsell expects to receive at an early date, is on the road. Tell you what Beaver is getting metropolitan. Haven't heard of the Democrat, Journal or HERALD ordering machines yet but look out, we may "combine" and get one.

The Ladies' Circle will hold a "Harvesthome" social at the church Wednesday evening November 18. Returns from the "Talents" which have been increasing through the summer, will be heard.

This social is free to all and we cordially invite you to be present.
Pres. L. S. C.

The county commissioners were in session several days last week. The commissioners now hold regular sessions the first Monday in each month. This was made possible by the law of the recent legislature providing for regular monthly meetings where it was found necessary to take care of the work.

Little Gretchen Lawson was painfully injured one day last week while playing with a sickle grinder at the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Long. Little Lenore Long and Gretchen were turning the machine when Gretchen caught her finger in the cog wheel and lacerated it so badly that it was feared at first that she might lose the first joint of that member. However, at this time the injury is improved and it is thought that it will not prove so serious as was at first anticipated.

Notice.

While visiting schools my office will not be open only on Saturdays. Beginning November 9 and lasting 6 weeks.

G. W. MEERS,
County Supt.

Hay Ride and Taffy Pull.

A number of the young people enjoyed a pleasant evening at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Niles Monday evening. The crowd were taken out in hay wagons and afterward treated to an old-fashioned taffy pulling. Everybody had a delightful time and taffy galore.

Will Put Up New Building.

W. G. Stranathan, proprietor of the City Meat Market, has purchased the lot just north of the HERALD office and contemplates the erection of a two-story building thereon. The lower part of the building will be used for his market and the upper story will be fitted up for a hall and lodge room.

The First Snow Storm.

The first touch of real winter weather visited this section Tuesday November 10th, when an icy wind from the northeast bore down upon us and was accompanied by a light fall of snow. Up to this time the weather has been delightful. It is not thought that this flurry will last long and we will doubtless have much more pleasant weather before Christmas.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

"By the President of the United States."

"A Proclamation:

"Once again the season is at hand when, according to the ancient custom of our people, it becomes the duty of the president to appoint a day of prayer and of thanksgiving to God."

"Year by year this nation grows in strength and worldly power. During the century and a quarter that has elapsed since our entry into the circle of independent people we have grown and prospered in material things to a degree never before and not known in any other country. The thirteen colonies which struggled along the seacoast of the Atlantic and were hemmed in by but a few miles west of tide-water by Indian hunted wilderness have been transformed into the mightiest republic which the world has ever known. Its domains stretch across the continent from one to the other of the two greatest oceans, and it exercises dominion alike in the arctic and tropic realms. The growth in wealth and population has surpassed even the growth in territory. No where else in the world is the average of individual comfort and material well being as high as in our fortunate land."

"For the very reason that in material well being we have thus abounded we owe to the Almighty to show equal progress in moral and spiritual things. With a nation, as with the individuals who make up a nation, material well being is an indispensable foundation. But the foundation awaits nothing by itself. That life is wasted and worse than wasted which is spent in piling heap on heap those things which minister merely to the pleasure of the body and to the power that rests only on wealth. Upon material well being as a foundation must be raised the structure of the lofty life of the spirit, if this nation is properly to fulfill its great mission and to accomplish all that we so ardently hope and desire. The things of the body are good; the things of the intellect better; but best of all are the things of the soul; for in the nation and as in the individual, in the long run it is character that counts. Let us therefore as a people set our faces resolutely against evil and with broad charity, with kindness and good will toward all men, but with unflinching determination to smite down wrong, strive with all the strength that is given us for righteousness in public and private life."

"Now, therefore, I Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States, do set apart Thursday, the 26th day of November, next, as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, and on that day I recommend that the people shall cease from their daily work and, in their homes or in their churches, meet devoutly to thank the Almighty for the many and great blessings they have received in the past and to pray that they may be given strength so to order their lives as to deserve a continuation of these blessings in the future."

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed."

"Done at the city of Washington, this thirty-first day of October, in the year of our Lord, One thousand, Nine Hundred and Eight and of the Independence of the United States, the one hundred and thirty-third."
(Signed) "THEODORE ROOSEVELT."
By the President: ALVEY ADEE
"Acting Secretary of State."

Financial Panics.

Sturm's Oklahoma Magazine for November is an especially good number of this always interesting periodical. As it is the purpose of this magazine to use the contributions of local talent, or at least of a local nature, most of the articles are of this class. However, a departure from the rule has been made in "Financial Panics of the Currency Man," by Maj. James McCarty. Maj. McCarty is a resident of the state of New York, where panics originate, and his article is a forceful, fair and convincing argument of the currency question. Though ideas differ regarding it, this question is of vital interest to each of us, whether we live in Oklahoma, where the fluctuations of the money market have comparatively little effect, or in the shadow of Wall street, where one tick of the tape may bring ruin and desolation to thousands.

Soliciting Stock Subscriptions.

At a meeting of the citizens Monday night the matter of soliciting stock subscriptions for the Beaver Valley & Northwestern railroad was discussed. Committees were appointed to take care of the matter also the right-of-way and these men are diligently at work. Let the people respond now when called upon for this matter must be closed by January 1st, 1909, or it is no go.

The Election in Oklahoma.

The election returns all over the state show a decided increase in republican votes and the G. O. P. is rejoicing over a well earned victory. The fight was waged long and hard in Oklahoma and the efforts were crowned with success. The enormous democratic majority of a year ago was carved down to a bare 5,000 plurality for Bryan in the election just passed and the republicans have made a decided showing in the membership of the legislature, having elected fifty-three members of that body—nine senators and forty-three representatives.

McGuire, from the First; Morgan, from the Second and Creager from the Third districts, were republican congressmen elected all by big majorities in districts which were overwhelmingly democratic a year ago.

The state questions which were submitted to the voters were decided as follows:

State Question No. 1. State Agency

—No.

State Question No. 2. Torron's Land

—Yes.

State Question No. 3. Location of Capital—Yes.

State Question No. 4. "New Jerusalem"—Yes

State Question No. 5. Sale of School

Lands—No.

Republicans all over the state are more than satisfied with the results in Oklahoma and at the big ratification meeting in Guthrie Saturday, "Oklahoma solid republican in 1910," was the slogan. This demonstration was led by leading republicans from all over the state and was one of the biggest affairs ever held in Oklahoma excepting only the day when it was announced that congress had passed the Statehood bill.

The democratic war cry "Let the People Rule," has been accepted by the "dear people" but the choice they have made for their leader is not in accord with the wishes of the father of our expression. The people's voice has been resounding through the chair of the chief executive of the Nation for many years and with Bryan's ignominious defeat for the third time they have again attested their intention of ruling under a free and independent government for another four years. "OKLAHOMA SOLID REPUBLICAN IN 1910 AND THE G. O. P. FOREVER."

Pleasantly Entertained.

The young people and others were pleasantly entertained at the regular monthly social given by the Ladies' Circle at the White House Hotel Thursday evening of last week. The entertainment was under the direction of Mesdames Stone, Stranathan and Willhour and was most successfully planned. After the usual evening of games and music a delicious luncheon consisting of bread and butter sandwiches, chicken coquettes, olives, pineapple sherbet, cake and chocolate was served.

The People of America Need Love

If I were the nation's Santa Claus, I would, on my trip across the world on Christmas eve, 1908, drop into every heart the gift of the "spirit of giving," says Elizabeth N. Phillips, President of the Philadelphia Santa Claus Association, in a symposium. "If I Were a National Santa Claus," in the December DELINEATOR, I would visit each home where love and affection had grown cold, and kindle the fires anew. I would see that every orphan had, not only a pair of shoes to warm his little feet, but a love that might take the place of a mother's love to warm his little heart. I would see that he had not only a coat to protect him from the winter's cold, but a sheltering arm that might take the place of a father's in protecting him from the blaws of a freezing world of thoughtless people.

Were I the "nation's Santa Claus" the "spirit of giving" would exist in every heart every day, and there would be no desires for great riches and power; no employer grinding down the wages of his employed; no public official using his trust for private gain and no religious creeds and dogmas save that embodied in Christ's words: "Do you love me, Simon? Then feed my lambs." And so, if it were in my power to give, I would leave, not only in every city, street and home, but in every heart, a living, loving Santa Claus, and the world would awaken on its Christmas day in paradise, with Love as a King.

Mrs. W. L. Beardsley is visiting at Gate this week.
